18TH CENTURY ITALIAN PROVINCIAL WALNUT SIDE TABLE WITH CABRIOLE LEGS

$7,800

A charming 18th-century Italian walnut side table, distinguished by its graceful cabriole legs, warm patina, and understated provincial character. Crafted with clean lines and restrained ornamentation, the table reflects the practical elegance that has long defined Italian country furniture. The rectangular top, softened by gently rounded corners, rests above a shaped apron with a delicately scalloped profile that lends the piece a subtle decorative flourish without overwhelming its simple silhouette.

The beautifully figured walnut has mellowed over centuries to a rich honey-brown tone, highlighting the natural character of the wood and the craftsmanship of the hand-shaped construction. Gracefully curved cabriole legs provide both stability and visual lightness, creating a balanced design that feels equally refined and approachable. The absence of excessive carving allows the quality of the timber and the pleasing proportions to take center stage.

Wonderfully versatile, this table can serve as a side table, lamp table, end table, or bedside table. Its modest scale makes it equally at home beside a sofa or armchair, between a pair of chairs, or in a hallway or bedroom. Timeless in its simplicity, it blends effortlessly with traditional interiors while adding warmth and authenticity to more contemporary spaces.
