19TH CENTURY BIEDERMEIER WALNUT ROUND CENTER TABLE WITH RADIATING VENEER TOP

$13,600

A 19th-century Biedermeier walnut round center table, showcasing the elegance and balance characteristic of the period. The circular top is veneered in walnut, arranged in a striking radiating sunburst pattern that highlights the natural grain and warmth of the wood. Beneath, the apron is fitted with a discreet single drawer, accented with a brass rosette pull, which adds a touch of refinement without disturbing the table's restrained silhouette.

The table is supported on a tripod base of three cabriole legs, gently splaying outward to provide both stability and graceful proportion. This three-leg construction is a classic Biedermeier feature, emphasizing simplicity and symmetry while ensuring functionality.

With its compact yet versatile form, the piece can serve as a center table, a writing or occasional table, or a decorative stand in a variety of interiors. Its harmonious lines and thoughtful craftsmanship embody the timeless appeal of Biedermeier design, making it suitable for both traditional and modern settings.
