19TH CENTURY ENGLISH CHEVAL MIRROR WITH BARLEY TWIST FRAME, BALL AND CLAW FEET

$7,850

An English full length cheval mirror from the 19th century with barley twist frame and ball and claw feet. This elegant English full-length cheval mirror from the 19th century showcases a rectangular mirror plate framed by a beautifully carved barley twist surround. The frame is supported by a pair of sturdy upright posts, also adorned with barley twist details, lending the piece a refined sense of movement and texture. The mirror is securely held by the traditional side supports, allowing it to tilt for the perfect angle, and is raised on a classic base featuring ball and claw feet, a hallmark of the period's craftsmanship. The warm patina of the wood, combined with the intricate twists and the iconic feet, imbues the piece with a sense of history and charm. This antique cheval mirror is both a functional and decorative piece, perfect for a bedroom, dressing room, or walk-in closet. Its full-length design makes it ideal for checking an outfit from head to toe, while its timeless appeal ensures it will complement a wide range of interiors, from traditional to eclectic. Placed near a window, it can reflect natural light, enhancing the sense of space and brightness in the room. This 19th-century mirror is a true statement piece, blending practicality with classic English elegance.
