19TH CENTURY ENGLISH FAUX BAMBOO SIDE TABLE WITH ZEBRA HIDE TOP AND CASTERS

$3,995

An English faux bamboo side table from the 19th century with faux bamboo base, zebra hide top and X-Form cross stretcher. This English faux bamboo side table from the 19th century exudes timeless elegance with its unique combination of materials and craftsmanship. The circular zebra hide top, secured by brass nailheads, creates a striking contrast with the rich wood of the faux bamboo base. Supported by four cylindrical tapering legs connected by an X-form cross stretcher adorned with a central turned finial, this piece balances both style and stability. The table is raised on brass casters, enhancing its functionality and allowing for easy movement. Whether used as an accent table in a living room, or as a functional piece in a study or bedroom, this side table adds both character and practicality to any interior. Its natural textures and exotic feel make it an ideal choice for eclectic or traditional decor, adding a touch of historical charm to any space. This versatile table could complement a variety of settings, providing an ideal spot for displaying decorative objects, a lamp, or even serving as a side table for refreshments in a living room or lounge. The combination of faux bamboo and zebra hide introduces a natural yet sophisticated feel, while its elegant form remains true to the English craftsmanship of the 19th century.
