19TH CENTURY FRENCH LOUIS XVI STYLE PAINTED DAYBED WITH FOLIAGE CARVING

$9,750

A French Louis XVI style painted wood daybed from the 19th century with foliage carved decor and custom upholstery. This 19th-century French Louis XVI style painted wood daybed embodies elegance and refinement, featuring an intricately carved structure adorned with delicate foliage motifs. The sides, which gracefully curve to form the arms, are meticulously carved, enhancing the daybed's exquisite silhouette. The creamy white paint finish beautifully complements the finely detailed carvings, bringing a touch of lightness and sophistication to the piece. Resting on six fluted legs, each adorned with carved rosettes at the knees, this daybed combines traditional craftsmanship with a timeless aesthetic. The newly upholstered linen fabric adds a layer of comfort and style, making it an ideal choice for a luxurious seating option in any room. The fluted legs, with their vertical lines, add a sense of height and elegance, anchoring the daybed while maintaining a delicate profile. This daybed is perfect for a living room, bedroom, or sunroom, offering a graceful seating or lounging option that complements both classic and contemporary interiors. Its harmonious blend of delicate carvings, fluted legs, and fresh linen upholstery creates a visually appealing piece that invites relaxation. Whether placed near a window, by a fireplace, or at the foot of a bed, this French Louis XVI style daybed brings timeless charm and refined elegance to any space.
