19TH CENTURY ITALIAN WALNUT INLAID THREE-DRAWER COMMODE WITH GEOMETRIC MARQUETRY

$5,995

A refined 19th-century Italian walnut commode of compact proportions, richly decorated with geometric marquetry throughout. The façade features three drawers, each centered with a diamond-shaped inlaid motif framing the escutcheon, echoed in the top and side panels. The overall design is architectural and disciplined, yet animated by the natural movement of the walnut grain.

The top displays a framed panel with a central lozenge motif, executed in contrasting veneers that create depth without excess ornamentation. The drawer fronts and sides continue the geometric vocabulary, with carefully arranged walnut veneers forming chevron and bookmatched patterns. The restrained linear inlay bordering each panel enhances the precision of the composition.

The case stands on slightly tapered legs, giving the piece a grounded yet elegant stance. The back reveals traditional plank construction consistent with 19th-century Italian cabinetmaking. Inside, the drawers retain honest wear appropriate to age, reinforcing authenticity.

At under 30 inches high, this commode works beautifully as a bedside chest, a hall cabinet, or a refined accent piece in a layered interior. The scale is modest, but the surface work delivers strong decorative impact.
