ENGLISH 19TH CENTURY NEOCLASSICAL DEMI-LUNE GAME TABLE WITH INLAID APRON

$6,995

An English Neoclassical demi-lune game table from the 19th century with flip top and inlaid diamond décor. This English Neoclassical demi-lune game table from the 19th century captures our attention with its refined silhouette and elegant inlaid décor. The top flips up to reveal a green felt-lined playing surface, perfect for card games or other leisurely pastimes. The back legs are designed to swing out, providing stable support for the extended top, while the front and back legs are gracefully tapered, enhancing the table's lightness and elegance. The apron of the table is adorned with delicate diamond motifs in contrasting darker tones, adding a subtle yet sophisticated decorative touch characteristic of Neoclassical design. With its compact size and multifunctional design, this table can easily transition from a console against a wall to a fully functional game table when entertaining guests. This versatile English game table will be a lovely addition to any living room, library, or study, where it can serve as a conversation piece and a practical surface for intimate gatherings. The combination of elegance, utility, and historic charm ensures it will effortlessly blend with both classic and contemporary interiors, offering style and functionality to your home.
