ENGLISH 19TH CENTURY OIL ON CANVAS PAINTING OF A DOG AND CAT IN GILT FRAME

$7,995

An English 19th century oil on canvas depicting a white dog and tabby cat standing before a kennel, set within a giltwood frame. The composition has strong Victorian charm, pairing two domestic animals in a courtyard setting with a stone wall, green painted kennel, chain, straw, and feeding bowl. The dog is painted with alert posture and direct expression, while the cat adds a softer counterpoint beside it.

The subject reflects the 19th century English taste for animal painting, particularly works that captured pets, working dogs, and stable or courtyard scenes with narrative appeal. The restrained palette, careful rendering of the animals, and architectural backdrop give the painting a decorative yet characterful presence.

The gilt frame adds warmth and formality, making the piece easy to place in a study, hallway, library, country house interior, or gallery wall. There appears to be a possible indistinct signature or inscription at the lower left, though it is not legible.
