ENGLISH CIRCA 1900 MARBLE-TOP TABLE WITH CARVED AND GILT SEA CREATURES BASE

$7,500

This English table from circa 1900 combines refined craftsmanship with bold decorative detail. The circular top is fitted with a richly patterned grey marble, its surface finished with a molded edge for a subtle note of elegance. The top rests upon a finely carved pedestal adorned with fluted and stylized leaf motifs, highlighted in gilt for added depth. Three outward-curving supports terminate in dramatic stylized sea creature heads-form feet, their carved features picked out in black and gold, lending the piece a neoclassical flair.

The supports meet a triangular mahogany plinth base set on gilt ball feet, ensuring stability while continuing the table's harmonious interplay of form and ornament. At 32.5 inches in diameter, this table offers an ideal size for use as a center, lamp, or occasional table, making it both a statement piece and a practical furnishing. With its combination of luxurious materials, rich color contrasts, and sculptural detailing, this marble-top table embodies the eclectic elegance of late 19th- to early 20th-century English design.
