ENGLISH MAHOGANY 19TH CENTURY DEMI-LUNE CONSOLE TABLE WITH TAMBOUR SLIDING DOORS

$4,995

An English mahogany demi-lune console table from the 19th century, with a dentil cornice over two reeded tambour sliding doors and carved apron. Created in England during the 19th century, this demi-lune console table features a semi-circular veneered top sitting above a dentil molding. Two tambour doors below open thanks to petite brass pulls to a convenient storage space while the ensemble is beautifully accented by a geometric carved apron. The table is raised on three slender tapered single-fluted legs adorned with three triangle-shaped carved motifs on the knees. The warmth of the mahogany finish allied with the clean lines of this 19th century English table will make it a great addition to an entryway or living room.
