ENGLISH MIDCENTURY PAINTED FAUX BAMBOO MIRROR WITH PARCEL-GILT ACCENTS

$1,875

This English painted faux bamboo mirror presents a strong architectural silhouette in a vertically oriented rectangular format, measuring 26 inches wide by 34 inches high with a shallow 1.5 inch projection. The frame is composed of simulated bamboo shafts, articulated with molded nodes and capped corner finials that give the piece a structured, almost campaign-inspired presence.

The surface is finished in a dark charcoal-grey painted ground, highlighted with gilt-toned rings at each bamboo joint. The restrained color palette keeps the design sophisticated rather than rustic, making it adaptable to both traditional and more tailored interiors.

The faux bamboo motif became particularly popular in England during the late 19th and early 20th centuries, reflecting an ongoing fascination with exoticism and the naturalistic forms of the Aesthetic movement. The crisp geometry and controlled ornamentation suggest a decorative rather than rustic interpretation of the bamboo theme.

The reverse reveals a wood backboard with later hanging wire in place.
