ENGLISH MIDCENTURY PERIOD DARK LACQUERED SIDE TABLES WITH NEOCLASSICAL ACCENTS

$8,995

This pair of English midcentury round side tables exudes timeless elegance with their dark, nearly black-brown finish and graceful curves. Crafted from quality hardwood, likely mahogany or beech, these tables have been finished with a sleek lacquer that highlights their refined silhouette and subtle sheen. The curved legs form an intersecting base that supports a lower shelf, providing both stability and additional display space. Decorative rosette carvings accentuate the apron, lending a touch of neoclassical charm to their minimalist midcentury form. These tables are versatile additions that blend seamlessly into various interior styles, from classic and traditional to more modern settings. Imagine placing them as a pair flanking a sofa in a living room, where their round surfaces can showcase table lamps, books, or curated decor items. Alternatively, they would work beautifully in a bedroom as sophisticated nightstands, adding a dark, grounding contrast to light or neutral decor. Their understated elegance and functional design make these tables not only visually appealing but also practical pieces that enhance any space they occupy. The high-gloss finish, robust construction, and timeless design ensure these tables are as durable as they are stylish, providing a sophisticated yet functional accent to elevate any room's aesthetic.
