ENGLISH OAK 1880S CIRCULAR PLANTER WITH BRASS BRACES MOUNTED ON SPLAYING LEGS

$1,500

An English oak circular planter from the late 19th century, with later legs and brass accents. Born during the fourth quarter of the 19th century, this rustic oak planter features a circular body, accented with brass braces. The planter is mounted on four splaying legs that are not original to the piece but were added probably 60 years ago or so. Charming our eyes with its unpretentious appearance and rustic feel, this English oak planter circa 1880 will bring a touch of authenticity to any home, particularly placed on a patio or in a garden.
