FRENCH CARVED GILTWOOD MIRROR WITH LIGHT PAINTED WOOD SURROUND, CIRCA 1920

$4,500

Dating to circa 1920, this French giltwood mirror features a crisply carved spiral frame set against a pale wood surround. The contrast between the rich gilding and the soft-toned structural backing gives the piece added dimension and presence, creating a stepped profile that reads as both classical and sculptural. The gilt rope-twist molding is sharply defined, offering texture and rhythm as it catches light from every angle. A narrow inner molding, carved in a subtle cross-hatched pattern, borders the mirror glass and reinforces the overall symmetry of the design.

The gilded surface shows a mellow patina, with gentle rubbing and tonal variation that soften its formality and lend warmth to the carving. The mirror plate itself retains a lightly aged appearance, with minor spotting and natural silvering that give the reflection depth without disrupting clarity.

This mirror works beautifully above a console or fireplace, where its balance of bold geometry and luminous finish can anchor a space without overpowering it. Its refined ornament and architectural silhouette suit a range of interiors—from French country to pared-down classic.
