FRENCH EMPIRE STYLE CURULE STOOL WITH GILDED ACCENTS AND LINEN UPHOLSTERY

$2,850

A French Empire style painted wood curule stool from circa 1900 with gilded accents, curved X-shaped legs, carved campanula and rosettes motifs, newly re-upholstered in linen fabric. This elegant French Empire-style stool, crafted around 1900, captures the grandeur of the period with its bold design and intricate details. Featuring classic curule-shaped legs adorned with gilded accents, the stool is a stunning example of Empire furniture's connection to ancient Roman aesthetics. The carved campanula motifs and rosettes add to its neoclassical charm, bringing a touch of historical richness to the piece. The frame’s gilding enhances its stately presence, while the newly reupholstered linen seat offers a fresh, comfortable contrast, seamlessly blending past and present. Ideal as a functional yet decorative accent, this stool can be placed in a living room, bedroom, or entryway, adding a dash of antique sophistication to the space. Whether used as a side seat or simply as an elegant decor piece, it exudes a timeless sense of luxury and refinement, perfectly fitting for both traditional and modern interiors. This French Empire-style stool is a beautiful statement piece, destined to bring a regal yet warm touch to any home.
