FRENCH LOUIS XVI STYLE BLEACHED OAK THREE-DRAWER CHEST WITH CARVED PANELS

$8,400

A French Louis XVI style bleached oak chest from the 19th century, with three drawers, carved panels, brass hardware and fluted side posts. Created in France during the 19th century, this bleached oak chest showcases the stylistic characteristics of the Louis XVI era. The chest features a rectangular planked top with beveled edges, sitting above a Classical façade. Three drawers are each carved with geometric panels and are fitted with brass lion-themed hardware. The side posts are carved with both fluted and reeded motifs. The ensemble is raised on four short feet, tapered in the front and straight in the back. The skirt is carved on three sides and the back showcases a distressed appearance. With its clean lines, bleached finish and delicately carved décor, this French Louis XVI style oak three-drawer chest from the 19th century will make for a wonderful addition to any home, whether placed in a bedroom or living room.
