FRENCH LOUIS XVI STYLE PAINTED ROUND TABLE WITH MARBLE TOP AND FLUTED APRON

$4,500

This French vintage round table features a white and gray marble top set above a painted wooden base with classical detailing. The circular apron is carved with repeated vertical fluting, giving the piece a refined neoclassical character, while the tapered legs are decorated near the top with carved foliate motifs. The pale painted finish has a softly weathered appearance, with tonal variation and visible texture that gives the table a relaxed, timeworn quality.

The round marble top has attractive gray veining across a white ground, adding a clean and elegant contrast to the painted base. The form draws on Louis XVI and Directoire-style vocabulary, especially in the fluted apron, tapered legs, and restrained classical ornament. Its compact scale makes it useful as a side table, center table, occasional table, or small breakfast or café-style table, depending on the setting.

The combination of marble and painted wood gives the piece a light decorative presence that would work well in a bedroom, sitting room, entry, garden room, or interior with French country, neoclassical, or transitional furnishings. It has enough surface area to be practical while remaining visually soft and easy to place.
