FRENCH OAK STOOL WITH CARVED CROWN MOTIF AND TWISTED STRETCHERS, 19TH CENTURY

$3,750

This richly detailed 19th-century French stool is carved from bleached oak and features an ornate apron centered with a regal crown motif framed by symmetrical scrollwork. The stool's expressive silhouette is further enhanced by boldly turned legs and classic barley twist stretchers, evoking traditional French craftsmanship with a sculptural flair.

The seat has been newly upholstered in a neutral, textured linen, offering a soft contrast to the pale oak frame. Hand-carved leaf detailing runs along the seat rails, reinforcing the piece's artisanal quality, while the lightly weathered finish highlights the grain and natural beauty of the oak.

Both decorative and practical, this stool makes a striking accent in any room—from a refined entryway to a dressing area or fireside nook. Its compact proportions and distinctive silhouette lend it versatility, while the crown detail adds a touch of noble character to rustic or eclectic interiors alike. A standout example of provincial French style with elevated carved detailing.
