FRENCH STEEL AND BRASS 1930S FLOOR LAMP WITH SCROLLING LEGS AND FOLIAGE MOTIFS

$5,450

A French steel and brass floor lamp from circa 1930 with two light sockets, scrolling legs and foliage motifs. This French steel and brass floor lamp from circa 1930 is a testament to the elegance of early 20th-century design. Standing on a trio of gracefully scrolling legs that suggest movement and fluidity, it exhibits a classic, yet lively stance. Each leg is adorned with delicate foliage motifs, contributing a touch of nature-inspired decor to the lamp's robust construction. Above, two light sockets await to cast a warm, inviting glow. Having been professionally rewired for modern use in the USA, this floor lamp seamlessly marries historical charm with contemporary functionality. It could serve as an illuminating presence in a reading nook, a dramatic accent in a living room, or a welcoming beacon in a grand entryway. Its stately appearance and dual-light feature provide not only ample lighting but also a sophisticated focal point that could complement various decor styles, from Art Deco to transitional interiors. It is a timeless piece that integrates effortlessly into the modern home, elevating any space with its historical provenance and radiant light.
