FRENCH TURN OF THE CENTURY OTTOMAN WITH GILTWOOD ROSETTES AND UPHOLSTERY, 1900S

$2,400

A French wooden ottoman from circa 1900 with tapering cylindrical legs, carved giltwood rosettes and muslin double welt upholstery. Step into the allure of French sophistication with this charming wooden ottoman from circa 1900, a piece that marries the elegance of classic design with the fine craftsmanship of the era. This ottoman, with its tapering cylindrical legs, carved giltwood rosettes, and muslin double welt upholstery, is a testament to the understated luxury and timeless appeal of French furniture. The ottoman stands on gracefully tapering cylindrical legs, each leg culminating in a carved giltwood rosette. These rosettes, simply placed at each corner on the knees above the legs, add a touch of ornate beauty, their golden tones shimmering against the wood and muslin. The muslin double welt upholstery offers a clean and sophisticated finish, its simplicity providing a canvas for personalization or a serene addition to any color palette. In a contemporary home, this French wooden ottoman serves as a versatile and elegant piece. It can be used as additional seating in a living room, a refined accent in a bedroom, or a chic accessory in a dressing area. The ottoman's understated design and neutral muslin upholstery make it a perfect match for various decor styles, adding a hint of French elegance and a touch of historical charm to your interior. Whether used for seating, as a footrest, or purely as a decorative element, this ottoman brings a sense of refined grace and sophistication to your living space.
