FRENCH WALNUT GAME TABLE WITH MARQUETRY AND REVERSIBLE FELT TOP, CIRCA 1880

$7,500

A French walnut game table from circa 1880 with marquetry and felt reversible folding top. This French walnut game table from circa 1880 captivates with its exquisite craftsmanship and versatile design. Featuring a reversible folding top, the table showcases beautiful marquetry on one side, creating a striking visual contrast when folded at 16.5 inches wide. Upon unfolding to a generous 32 inches, the other side reveals a green felt playing surface, adorned with delicately marquetry-embellished protruding corners, perfect for card games or other leisurely activities. The table's base cleverly extends forward and locks to provide sturdy support for the opened top, ensuring stability during use. The table's apron is enhanced with fluted motifs, an elegant detail echoed in the four fluted legs, which rest gracefully on petite brass feet. The fine combination of marquetry, felt, and brass elements brings together a sense of refined sophistication, making this table an excellent decorative piece and a functional addition to any game room, living room, or library. With its charming proportions and lovely walnut patina, this French game table invites both play and display, effortlessly blending with traditional and contemporary settings alike.
