HARRISON VAN HORN FAUX BAMBOO MIRROR, 20TH CENTURY, HANDCRAFTED ELEGANCE

$5,995

An American faux bamboo mirror by Harrison Van Horn, dating to the late 20th century. Known for his luxurious lacquered furniture and refined designs, Van Horn crafted pieces that blend classic influences with contemporary appeal. This mirror features a distinctive faux bamboo frame with an aged finish, giving it an organic, timeworn character. The geometric cross-corner details add a sculptural quality, making it a striking accent piece.

Perfect for adding dimension and warmth to an entryway, above a console, or as a focal point in a living or dining space. Its versatile design works effortlessly in a range of interiors, from coastal to traditional to eclectic settings. Whether placed in a powder room for a touch of vintage charm or layered into a gallery wall for added texture, this mirror brings a sophisticated yet relaxed feel to any environment.

Its timeless aesthetic also pairs seamlessly with a range of interiors, from coastal and tropical-inspired rooms to traditional or contemporary settings that benefit from a touch of organic sophistication.

A designer favorite, Harrison Van Horn's work is celebrated for its craftsmanship and enduring style, making this mirror a standout addition to any collection. Whether incorporated into a layered gallery wall or placed as a standalone focal point, it offers a sophisticated nod to natural materials with a mid-century sensibility.
