ITALIAN 1800S WALNUT GUÉRIDON SIDE TABLE WITH CARVED APRON AND GILT SPHERES

$5,995

An Italian walnut guéridon side table from the early 19th century with parquetry top, carved apron, petite gilt spheres and lion paw feet. Presenting a piece of Italian design, this early 19th-century walnut guéridon side table is a lovely amalgamation of elaborate craftsmanship and classic aesthetic.

The table showcases a circular top, adorned with meticulous parquetry motifs that dance in symphony with the warm hues of the walnut. The geometric patterns in the parquetry showcase the artisan's virtuosity in employing this venerable technique.

Gracefully descending from the top is a charming apron, embellished with intricately carved arches in a regular rhythm, a nod to classical architectural designs. Adding a touch of opulence, petite gilt spheres punctuate each arch, reflecting a glimmer of sophistication.

Emerging from behind the apron are three elegant saber legs, highlighted by slender banding. These legs cradle a petite shelf midway, adding functional elegance. The legs further converge into an in-curving low shelf, providing a harmonious balance to the composition.

The pièce de résistance is undoubtedly the magnificent lion paw feet on which the ensemble rests. Carved with an unwavering attention to detail, these feet evoke the majesty and strength of this noble creature, infusing the guéridon with a stately presence.

This walnut guéridon side table, with its meticulous parquetry, carved apron, and majestic lion paw feet, epitomizes Italian artisanship from the early 19th century. It is more than a piece of furniture; it's a work of art that exudes timeless grace, ideal for connoisseurs seeking to add a touch of historical elegance to their interiors.
