ITALIAN 18TH CENTURY WALNUT MARQUETRY COMMODE WITH GRAY MARBLE TOP

$12,600

An elegant Italian 18th-century walnut commode with fine marquetry inlay and a gray marble top. The case is fitted with two short drawers above two long drawers, each framed with geometric inlaid borders and warm contrasting veneers. The drawer fronts and sides display a refined neoclassical arrangement, with rectangular reserves, banded inlay, shield-form escutcheons, and oval brass pulls. The vertical walnut grain gives the piece a rich, architectural presence, while the lighter inlaid borders add rhythm and definition across the facade.

Raised on tapered legs, the commode has a balanced, restrained silhouette characteristic of late 18th-century Italian furniture. The gray marble top provides a handsome contrast to the golden and amber tones of the walnut, making the piece both decorative and practical. The side panels are also inlaid, allowing the commode to be viewed attractively from multiple angles.

This commode would work beautifully in an entry hall, living room, bedroom, dining room, or library, offering useful storage while maintaining the refined character of an antique Italian case piece. Its combination of walnut, marquetry, brass hardware, and marble gives it the polished yet warm quality that makes Italian neoclassical furniture so versatile in both traditional and layered contemporary interiors.
