ITALIAN GILT IRON SAVONAROLA CURULE CHAIR WITH TAN LEATHER AND X-FORM BASE. HOLD

$3,750

An Italian vintage gilt iron Savonarola curule armchair from the mid 20th century, with leather seat, flattened finials and X-Form base. Created in Italy during the Midcentury period, this Savonarola chair features a gilt iron structure with a shape inspired by the Curulis seat designed during Roman antiquity. The open back presents a leather band flanked with gilt iron supports topped with flattened finials. The arms are high and echo the leather band motif while the seat is resting on an X-Form base. The leather, presenting a tan color, is in good condition with slight signs of aging. The iron gilt base is made of a curving X shape, connected in its center with a conic finial and strengthened on the sides with stretchers. The ensemble is resting on flattened bun feet echoing in reverse the upper section. With its golden tones and antique inspiration, this vintage Italian Savonarola curule chair will make for a great accentuation in any home, whether placed in a living room or foyer.
