MIDCENTURY ENGLISH COPPER DOUBLE SPHERE LIGHT FIXTURE WITH VERDIGRIS PATINA

$1,795

A Midcentury English copper double ring light fixture with four lights and verdigris patina, professionally rewired for the USA. Created in mid-20th century England, this exquisite double ring light fixture captivates with its sophisticated design and verdigris patina. Crafted from copper, the fixture features two elegantly connected rings, creating a striking visual balance. The rings surround four central lights, that cast a warm and inviting glow, enhancing any interior space with their ambient illumination. The verdigris patina adds a touch of vintage charm and character, accentuating the fixture's midcentury aesthetic. The natural weathering process of the copper has resulted in a beautiful greenish hue, giving the piece an authentic, aged appearance that exudes timeless elegance. The fixture's airy design ensures it does not overwhelm a space, making it a versatile addition to various interior styles. Its delicate structure and balanced proportions contribute to its light and graceful presence, allowing it to blend seamlessly into any room. Professionally rewired for the USA, this light fixture combines historical charm with modern functionality, ensuring safety and reliability. Perfect for a breakfast area, living room, or entryway, this midcentury English copper light fixture brings a touch of sophistication and historical elegance to any decor. Its unique combination of form, function, and finish makes it a standout piece that celebrates the beauty of midcentury design and the timeless appeal of verdigris copper. Whether illuminating a cozy corner or serving as a central feature, this light fixture is sure to be a cherished addition to any home.
