MIDCENTURY GILT METAL SUNBURST MIRROR WITH RADIATING RAYS

$5,500

This midcentury sunburst mirror is crafted in gilt-finished metal, featuring a dynamic arrangement of alternating straight and undulating rays radiating from a circular mirror plate. The design captures the enduring appeal of the sunburst motif, widely embraced in mid-20th-century interiors for its ability to introduce both movement and sculptural presence to a wall.

The frame is formed from thin metal elements, cut and shaped to create a lively, flame-like perimeter. The alternating rhythm of pointed and gently curved rays adds visual variation while maintaining overall symmetry. The gilt surface has softened over time, developing a warm, slightly matte patina that enhances the texture of the metal and avoids the overly bright appearance of later reproductions.

The central mirror plate is set within a narrow circular surround, providing a clean visual anchor that contrasts with the expressive outer form. With its generous 42-inch diameter, this piece offers strong decorative impact, suitable for placement above a console, mantel, or as a focal point in a larger wall arrangement.
