PAIR OF 19TH CENTURY ITALIAN NEOCLASSICAL ROUGE MARBLE LIDDED URNS WITH GADROONS

$12,600

A pair of Italian Neoclassical rouge marble lidded urns from the 19th century. Imbued with classical elegance, this pair of 19th-century Italian rouge marble urns captures the grandeur of a bygone era. Carved from richly veined marble in hues of deep red, gray, and white, each urn showcases a harmonious baluster form, accented by gadrooned detailing and crowned with a refined lid featuring a spheric finial. The opulent material, coupled with the timeless design, evokes the grandeur of Neoclassical decor, making these urns perfect for adding a touch of old-world sophistication to any space. Whether placed atop console tables in a grand entryway, styled on a mantel, or used as striking centerpieces in a formal dining room, these urns exude a commanding yet elegant presence. The meticulous craftsmanship and natural variations in the marble ensure that each piece is one of a kind, adding depth and texture to a traditional or eclectic interior. Their enduring style makes them equally suitable for modern spaces seeking a bold, historic touch. A testament to refined Italian artistry, these urns are as much sculptural as they are functional.
