PAIR OF BLANC DE CHINE MIDCENTURY URNS WITH RAMS HEADS AND IVY LEAVES

$2,995

A pair of Blanc de Chine urns from the Midcentury period, with rams heads handles, grapes and ivy motifs. This pair of Blanc de Chine urns, originating from the Midcentury period, encapsulates a blend of classical elegance and intricate design. Each urn is characterized by its ovoid motifs on the lip, gracefully flanked by sculpted ram's head handles, a symbol of strength and determination. The belly is beautifully adorned with embossed grapes and ivy leaves, motifs that evoke a sense of abundance and natural beauty. Crafted with a refined attention to detail, these urns exude an air of sophistication and timelessness. Their white ground contrast strikingly with the detailed textures of the grape and ivy designs, creating a play of light and shadow that enhances their visual appeal. Resting on square bases, these urns exhibit stability and presence, grounding them in any setting they are placed in. These Blanc de Chine urns could serve as exquisite decorative elements in a variety of home settings. Imagine them adorning a mantelpiece, creating a focal point in a living room, or adding a touch of elegance to a formal dining room. They could also be placed on entryway tables or bookshelves, where their detailed craftsmanship can be appreciated up close.
