PAIR OF FRENCH 19TH CENTURY LOUIS XV STYLE WALNUT STOOLS WITH CARVED APRONS

$5,995

This elegant pair of French 19th century stools is crafted in walnut and executed in the Louis XV taste, with graceful cabriole legs and a finely carved apron adorned with floral and foliate motifs. The frames display a balanced silhouette, with scalloped rails and delicate corner carving that continues fluidly into the knees of the legs. The carving is crisp yet restrained, consistent with quality provincial or workshop production of the period.

The wood has been more recently lightened to a soft, neutral tone, allowing the natural grain and sculptural detail to read clearly while giving the pair a cleaner, more contemporary presentation. This updated finish makes the stools particularly versatile in today's interiors, bridging traditional architecture and modern decorative schemes.

The seats have been upholstered in a natural-toned linen fabric with tailored piping, offering a tailored and understated profile. Generously proportioned and comfortably padded, the stools function well as window seating, at the foot of a bed, as occasional seating in a salon, or as refined accent pieces in a dressing room or hallway.

A well-scaled and practical pair with strong decorative presence.
