PAIR OF FRENCH STONE FRUIT, FLOWERS AND MÉDICIS VASE SCULPTURES, CIRCA 1920

$4,500

This pair of French stone sculptures from the early 20th century features two Médicis vases with gadroon decor on a square base. The vases are adorned with exquisite bouquets of flowers and fruits. Such sculptures have traditionally found their place in French chateaux and mansions, particularly flanking entrances or placed in the gardens, such as the 17th century Jardins à la Française. This pair of French floral themed sculptures would be a great compliment to any home to bring some French elegance.
