$16,500

A pair of Italian Neoclassical style walnut bedside tables from circa 1800 with two drawers and marquetry décor. This pair of Neoclassical period Italian walnut bedside tables from circa 1800 showcases the unparalleled craftsmanship and elegant aesthetics of the era. Each table is furnished with two drawers, meticulously inlaid with marquetry that depicts classical urns. The urns' marquetry, set against the drawers and sides, is enhanced by sophisticated cross banding, which, along with the alternating black and walnut color scheme of the inlay, emphasizes the intricate detail and beauty of the urn motifs. The tables stand on gracefully tapered legs, embodying the refinement and polished style characteristic of Neoclassical furniture. Their compact dimensions and practical design make them ideal for contemporary living spaces, offering essential storage near the bed while significantly enhancing the room's decor. The rich, warm walnut finish, coupled with the exquisite marquetry, enables these tables to integrate beautifully into various interior designs, from traditionally rich to more modern and eclectic spaces. In a contemporary setting, these Neoclassical bedside tables can provide a striking historical contrast to minimalist decor, introducing warmth, charm, and a story. In classic or eclectic interiors, they seamlessly complement other period furnishings, contributing to a harmonious and inviting bedroom environment.
