PAIR OF OVERSIZED ENGLISH 19TH CENTURY PINE PEDIMENTS WITH CARVED DENTIL MOLDING

$12,000

A pair of oversized English pine triangular pediments from the 19th century with carved dentil molding. This pair of oversized English pine triangular pediments from the 19th century is a testament to the timeless elegance of classic architectural elements. Each pediment, showcasing meticulous craftsmanship, is adorned with carved dentil molding, a detail that adds depth and texture, inviting the onlooker to appreciate the intricacy of its design. The scraped finish on these magnificent pieces reveals a charming white color, with much of the pine's natural wood grain peeking through, suggesting stories and histories from its past life. In a contemporary home, these pediments could serve as stunning decorative elements, perhaps mounted above doorways or used as a unique headboard alternative in a bedroom, instantly elevating the space with a touch of historical sophistication. Their weathered appearance and grand scale make them ideal for adding architectural interest and a sense of history to modern interiors, blending the past's craftsmanship with today's design sensibilities. These pediments embody a blend of utility and beauty, making them a splendid choice for anyone looking to infuse their living space with character and charm.
