PATINATED BRONZE TABLE LAMP IN THE STYLE OF JAMES MONT ON LUCITE BASE

$1,250

This tall bronze table lamp is crafted in the bold, sculptural style associated with James Mont, a designer known for blending Eastern and Western influences into dramatic, decorative forms.

The lamp features a distinctive elongated silhouette with stacked geometric volumes, flared top, and a rounded lower body flanked by a pair of curved handles. A richly textured verdigris patina enhances the surface, offering visual depth and a sense of age while nodding to classical bronze vessels. The lamp rests on a hexagonal Lucite base measuring approximately 6 inches square, providing both contrast and stability without distracting from the form. Overall dimensions are 8 inches in diameter by 27.5 inches high to the top of the socket.

Rewired for contemporary use, the lamp evokes midcentury American design while channeling Asian and neoclassical influences. It would make a striking addition to a console, side table, or entryway vignette, especially in interiors mixing vintage, Hollywood Regency, or maximalist aesthetics. Shade not included.
