$2,850

A striking piece of American rustic design, this mid-20th-century trough repurposes the raw beauty of aged wood with a sturdy iron base, blending organic textures with industrial strength. Raised on an arched custom iron frame with a curved support system, this unique piece merges farmhouse charm with utilitarian design, making it a standout addition to any interior.

Ideal as a conversation-starting accent table, this rustic trough can serve as a sculptural console in an entryway, a centerpiece for a dining area, or a display vessel for dried botanicals, magazines, or decorative objects. Its rugged appeal lends itself beautifully to modern farmhouse, industrial loft, or eclectic interiors, bringing an authentic touch of rustic craftsmanship to contemporary spaces.

Whether styled in a living room, repurposed as a unique planter, or used as a functional table, this trough is a versatile and statement-making piece that bridges past and present with timeless charm.
