SPANISH RENAISSANCE 1680S WALNUT SPICE CABINET WITH FOLIAGE CARVED DÉCOR

$29,900

A Spanish Renaissance walnut spice cabinet from circa 1680 with abundant foliage carved décor. This captivating Spanish Renaissance walnut spice cabinet, dating to circa 1680, enchants us with its abundant carved foliage decor, a testament to the intricate craftsmanship of the era. The front façade is adorned with delicate scrolling foliage, enhancing the cabinet's ornate appeal. At the center, a carved panel proudly displays the papal tiara with Saint Peter's keys, further enriching the cabinet's historical significance. The structure features two small drawers at the top, perfect for storing delicate spices or small keepsakes. A petite central door, exquisitely carved and flanked by two larger doors that open to reveal spacious compartments, adds a touch of charm and balance to the ensemble. The dark patina of the walnut wood highlights the cabinet's rich history and enhances its timeless allure, while the side panels continue the scrolling foliage motif, ensuring the piece is visually captivating from every angle. Raised on a simple plinth and fitted with lateral handles, this cabinet combines functionality with decorative elegance. A perfect addition to a dining room, living room, or study, this Spanish Renaissance spice cabinet will infuse any space with a sense of history and sophistication, becoming a cherished centerpiece in any home.
