VINTAGE BAMBOO AND WOVEN RATTAN ROUND FOLDING SIDE TABLE

$1,800

A vintage round bamboo and woven rattan side table from the mid-20th century, featuring a richly patterned top and practical folding base. The circular top is divided into six radiating sections filled with finely woven rattan, each outlined by slender bamboo strips and arranged around a geometric hexagonal center. A segmented bamboo border encircles the composition, creating an attractive contrast of texture and pattern.

The top is supported by a folding bamboo base composed of crossed legs joined by horizontal stretchers. Hinged construction allows the base to collapse nearly flat when not in use, making the table both decorative and practical. The warm honey and amber tones of the bamboo are enhanced by darker variations developed over time, while the woven top introduces additional depth and texture.

With its graphic radial design, natural materials and lightweight construction, this vintage table has an appealing relaxed character. Its 31-inch diameter provides a useful surface while remaining compact enough for use as a side or occasional table in a living room, sunroom or covered porch. When folded, it can also be stored easily when additional floor space is needed.
